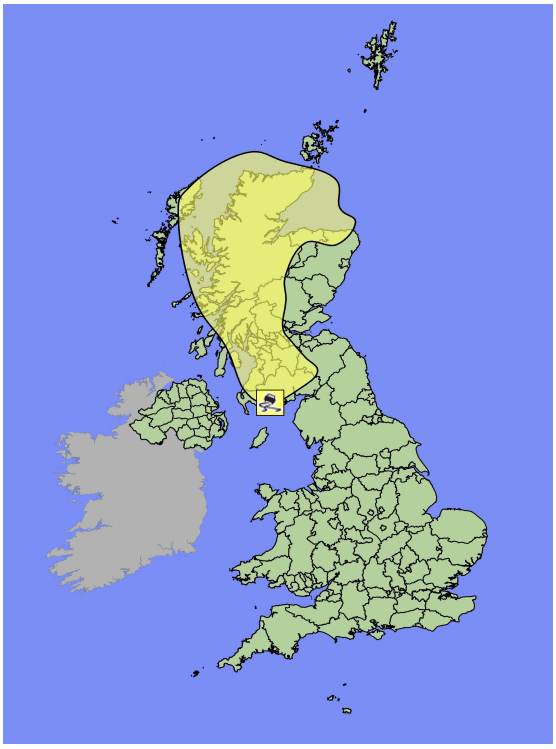
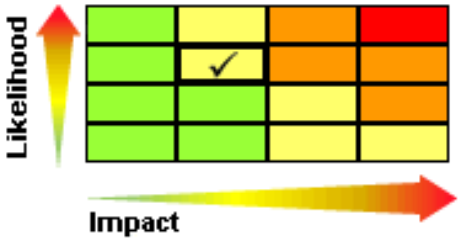
National Severe Weather Warning Service





Chief Forecasters Assessment
Snow showers will become more confined to areas closer to northern and western coasts overnight where local additional falls of 2 to 5cm. For more inland areas ice will become the main issue, with untreated roads liable to be very icy well into Tuesday morning.

The Met Office have issued a Yellow Warning of Ice

Valid from 00:00 on Tue, 06th Dec 2011 until 11:00 on Tue, 06th Dec 2011

Snow showers will become more confined to the north and west of the area tonight. However widespread icy stretches will affect untreated roads across the area overnight and well into Tuesday morning especially where wintry showers have fallen.
